Journal of Denuclearization Design

The Journal of Denuclearization Design is a cumulative digital-only journal edited and issued by the Global Collaborative on Denuclearization Design.

Access to the Journal is at the GC.DD website: www.gcdd.net. Please direct correspondence and submissions to editor@gcdd.net.

The red page numbers are hot links.

CONTENTS

        Bruce D. Larkin.  31 October 2008.

II:1-14  What Would Nuclear Abolition Look Like?
         Bruce D. Larkin.  31 December 2008

APPENDICES

A:1-21  Appendix A: Catalog of Moves in a Transition to Nuclear Zero.
        Bruce D. Larkin.  10 December 2008.

B:1-19  Appendix B: Distilling Denuclearization: Selected Texts and Statements [2006-2010]
The Journal of Denuclearization Design is a cumulative digital-only journal edited and issued by the Global Collaborative on Denuclearization Design. It is a vehicle for studies undertaken by the Global Collaborative and germane articles submitted by others.

Access to the Journal is at the GC.DD website: www.gcdd.net. Please direct correspondence and submissions to editor@gcdd.net.

Some rights reserved: this work, its contents pages, or any complete article or set of articles, may be distributed freely subject to the attribution, non-commercial, and no derivative works conditions of the Creative Commons license 3.0. ‘Attribution’ is met by including this page as the last page of the article.

Except where otherwise noted, this work is licensed under http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/3.0/

Please include a paragraph in the following form at the end of any paper submitted for consideration:

Journal of Denuclearization Design

Article Title:

Author: Ima N. Author

[Email: ima.n.author@gcdd.net] [Web: http://www.imanauthor.net]

[Draft: URL if already accessible on line]

Ima N. Author is Assistant Professor of Public Policy at the University of the Wilderness, where she specializes in the intersection of energy supply and security.